

New Site for Pacific Military Academy

Constantly growing enrollments at the Pacific Military academy has made it necessary to look for 50 per cent larger accommodations.

Harry H. Culver, president of the board of directors of the academy, has just closed a deal, purchasing 10 acres of land near the California Country club, the value of which is $100,000. On this site will be built the future home of the already famous Pacific Military academy.
