

HIGH SCHOOL GRADES WILL ATTEND COLLEGE

University of Nebraska Gets
the Biggest Bunch,
Forty-Eight.

University of Omaha and Ames Agricultural College Comes in Next.

Omaha high school will this year be represented to a greater extent than ever before in the universities and colleges throughout the country. About two score will attend the University of Nebraska, while the rest will be scattered over the country. Agriculture is becoming very popular with the boys and even some girls are taking up that study.

Registration at both Lincoln and Omaha starts September 16, while some of the eastern schools do not take up till later in the month.
